The apothecary just wanted to change the topic to something nice, but he accidentally took it in the direction that no one expected! But Reszurre didn't mind such development, either!
Hey, did you know that the far eastern lands have this clothing called "kimono"...?
...Tell me more!
Hmm... I wonder how it would look on Reszurre-san...
hmm...
Gah, why am I having fantasies about my patient...?!
Apothecary used "reprimand" on itself!
The dream he had the other day and now the desire to play dress-up with Reszurre filled the apothecary with a sense of guilt.

I am extremely grateful to have received so much of your support over this long year of 2021! It is only thanks to all of you that I am able to keep drawing manga and other illustrations... I still have a ways to go, but I will try my absolute best in the upcoming year for the people who enjoy reading my work! And again, thank you so, so much for sticking with me this year! I hope your support can continue into the next year as well.
